

JANUARY 9th to 13th 2017

16WCEE

16th World Conference on Earthquake Engineering

Santiago - Chile

Discover:

Discover Chile and experience one of the most fascinating countries at the end of the world, where the earth forces express themselves in the most extreme ways. You would be able to experience the wonder of volcanos, the Andes range, Patagonia and its unique rain forest, glaciers, the magic of Eastern Island, and the overwhelming Atacama, the driest desert of the world. At the same time, you would be able to taste one of the best wines of the world, accompanied with magical local sea food.

General Committee

Chairman

Rodolfo Saragoni

Co Chairman

Tomás Guendelman

Scientific Program

Rubén Boroscsek
Hernán Santa María

Financial Affairs

Tomás Guendelman
Mario Giuliano

Marketing & Communications

René Lagos
Augusto Holmberg
Christian Ledezma

Logistics & Operations

Marianne Küpfer
María Ofelia Moroni

Gran Torre Santiago, 300 metres (980 ft) tall and 64 stories high. The tallest building of South America.

Topic Areas

The main topic areas of the 16WCEE will be:

- Seismic resilient cities,
- Earthquake risk reduction in developing countries,
- Earthquake engineering in practice,
- International issues in earthquake engineering,
- Engineering seismology,
- Geotechnical engineering,
- Structural engineering,
- Performance design,
- Lifeline systems,
- Seismic isolation,
- Design criteria and methods,
- Social and economic issues,
- Lessons from recent earthquakes and other issues.

Keynotes

- Steven L. Kramer - USA
- Raúl Madariaga - France
- Carlos Ventura - Canada
- Farzad Naeim - Iran
- Polat Gülkan - Turkey
- Taro Arikawa - Japan
- Steve Mahin - USA
- Nicolás Luco - USA
- Hiroshi Kawase - Japan
- Antonio Godoy - Argentina
- Jianzhong Li - China
- René Lagos - Chile
- Alessandro Martelli - Italy

Titanium tower of 200m with dissipation system at the laterals and shown at the bottom

Santiago of Chile

Santiago is a city full of contrasts that offers tourists a wide range of choices for their accommodations, restaurants to enjoy the national cuisine with products known throughout the world, entertainment and places of interest for visitors. to be immersed in the art and culture of Chile and a number of places that make up a lively nightlife in Santiago.

All of these means that every visitor will have a pleasant and unforgettable stay in Santiago.

General Information

ACHISINA

Executive Secretariat

Francisca Maturana
fmaturana@achisina.cl
562 27937276

Torres del Paine - Chilean Patagonia

